

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES TRAVEL CHECKLIST

If you are travelling to and from the NWT, you must do these 4 things before your trip.

This information is subject to change without notice. Please check with the Government of the Northwest Territories \(GNWT\) and the Government of Canada for the most current information before you travel.

Please CLICK HERE to review updated COVID-19 vaccination and/or testing requirements mandated by public health authorities departing from areas including select northern communities and southern hubs. These new requirements are in addition to existing requirements which have been implemented by Territorial and Regional Public Health Authorities. Failure to meet all of the applicable requirements before your flight will prevent you from travelling.

1

Determine if you are eligible to travel to the NWT

- Go to this link Government of the Northwest Territories and confirm that you are eligible to travel.

2

Be prepared to self-isolate after you've entered the Northwest Territories

- Go to this link Government of the Northwest Territories and determine your self-isolation requirements.

3

Bring a mandatory non-medical mask or face-covering

- The Government of Canada requires all travellers to confirm that they have a mandatory non-medical mask or face-covering in their possession during check-in and wear it for the entire travel journey, with the exception of when eating, drinking or taking oral medicine, even when seated next to a member of the same household – more information here.
- Please note that as shown in the above link, face coverings with an exhalation valve or vent, non- medical masks/face coverings made with mesh or lace fabric, neck gaiters, bandanas and face shields will not be accepted as they don't protect others from COVID-19 and don't limit the spread of the virus.
- Travellers who do not have a suitable face covering in their possession will not be allowed to fly.

4

Know what to expect

- Visit our CN Care page to learn about the many safeguards we have implemented and what you can expect during your flight.
